

Supporting materials

1 List of AI tools

Not recommendations, a sample of some of the tools currently available*

- ChatGPT: Research, writing, drafting
- Microsoft Copilot: Chat GPT 4 + Dall-E 3 + Bing Google
- Gemini: Multimodal (text, image, audio, code, etc.)
- Claude AI: Focused on safe and natural conversation
- TextCortex: AI hub, persona, GDPR, EU hosted
- Resoomer: Summarize and analyze argumentative texts
- Hemingway editor: Improve readability, colour coded guide
- Gamma: Make presentations with one prompt

2 List of AI detection tools / software

Not recommendations, a sample of what is currently available*

- Originality.AI
 - Free trial available
 - Detects AI-generated content (including GPT-3, GPT-4, Gemini, etc.) and checks for plagiarism.
 - Offers team features and scan history; highly used by publishers and educators.
- Copyleaks AI Content Detector
 - Has a free option
 - Supports detection for multiple languages and identifies content from various AI models.
 - Provides a Chrome extension and API for integration.
- GPTZero
 - Has a free option
 - Designed for educators; distinguishes between human and AI-generated text.
 - Offers document scanning, batch uploads, and a user-friendly dashboard.
- Sapling AI Content Detector
 - Free
 - Detects content produced by AI models including ChatGPT.
 - Offers a simple interface and quick results.

3 List of AI data processing tools / software

Not recommendations, a sample of what is currently available*

KNIME Analytics Platform

- Open-source data analytics, reporting, and integration platform with a visual workflow interface.
- Supports data cleaning, transformation, and advanced machine learning; extensible with Python, R, and more.

PowerBI from Microsoft

- Data visualization and business intelligence tool by Microsoft; enables users to connect, transform, and visualize data from multiple sources.
- The free desktop version allows for robust data processing, interactive dashboards, and sharing reports locally; advanced sharing and collaboration features require a paid plan.